aaaart.online: News and Events

Sue Lawton's Wild Wonders.

noway:

We are featuring Sue Lawton this month. Recently aaaart.online was contacted by Pauline DuReitz, a local author. Some years ago, she had purchased a wonderful painting of Sue's at the Immanuel Art Festival. She is interested in using it for the cover of one of her novels and needed to contact Sue to ensure she could use the copyright in this way. She only found Sue as I had recently added Sue to aaaart.online this month... and her Google search led her directly to aaaart.online. Moral of the story? Get your artwork on aaaart.online -- someone may be looking for you! We can mark your items as not on sales through the site .. but listing them gets your name into the search engines.

I received a follow up email from Pauline... she has now checked out the aaaart.online website and is truly impressed with the quality of work she saw.

Best wishes Sue with your new book deal. :D

- or whatever you think would be helpful :D

You too could be having a working lunch with the girls once a quarter.

Let me know if you are interested.

Your membership fee is due!

I will be sending out invoices this month for membership dues. The management team recognises that some members have only just joined... so if you don't receive an invoice .. don't panic .. we are giving you a buy as you only just paid your fee. This includes anyone joining just before Petrie.

Everyone else .. please pay your invoice before the AGM. Its $30 for a repeat member. Only financial members can vote at the AGM.
